Change Is Unavoidable

The theme of this year's yearbook is Out of the Shadows and Into the Light because the staff thought that Agnes Scott College was doing just that in many respects. The allusion to shadows does not imply total darkness, but just a darker shade of reality. The allusion to "the light" symbolizes the college's change and progression. As we all move toward the light of knowledge, experience, and success, so does the college move toward the light of growth and recognition. Change is unavoidable, but progression is an accomplishment.

The inauguration of Mary Brown Bullock as the new president of the college has pointed ASC in the direction of progression. The administration, staff, and faculty are helping to make the college more well-known around the country and the world. The superior rankings of Agnes Scott by U.S. News at the beginning of the academic year reflected wonderful results of these efforts.

Since last year, enrollment has increased, facilities have improved, and plans to further improve the campus and the college have been made. Campus organizations...

Anna Boynton, Beverly Dacharme, and Holyn Ivy seek to enhance their natural beauty at a jewelry sale in Alston.

As Mortar Board's chair of the Black Cat games committee, Martha Bailey's insight and leadership increased campus-wide participation and made Field Day a great success.

...Progress is an accomplishment.

... have grown in number and student activity level has increased. Even the social atmosphere of ASC has improved. However, the academic standards have remained the same and the curriculum has remained rigorous.

We hope that the rest of the Agnes Scott community agrees that our choice of the theme is appropriate, and we look forward to the college's continued progression in the future.

"Every generation must go further than the last or what's the use of it?"

Life at Agnes Scott

Over the past several years Agnes Scott College has continued to grow and change with its student body, administration, and governing bodies. The class of 2000 brought many new, innovative ideas and views to Agnes Scott. With the inauguration of President Mary Brown Bullock in April of 1996, ASC moved into a new era of growth and opportunity. The Student Government revised the college constitution to meet the needs of an ever-changing Agnes Scott student body. And a Strategic Plan, incorporating students' ideas, has been initiated to help the college thrive. With each of these developments and more, the horizons of ASC continue to grow and expand.

Underclasses

“I’ll tell you how the sun rose –
a Ribbon at a time –” – Emily Dickinson

The underclass of Agnes Scott has undergone massive growth this year with the addition of the class of 2000. Developing in the midst of such changes is the dawn of a new age for ASC. From the steps of Buttrick, Campbell, and Dana, ASC students are developing the skills needed to emerge as intelligent, creative, and strong women. The underclass women are on their way to becoming powerful voices in our world. Each year brings new experiences which propel students into realizing their full potential. Every moment at ASC makes us stronger so that we can take control of our dreams, hopes and goals for the future.

Class of 1997

End of the Goldrush

I knew at that first-year, "top secret," Black Cat meeting in the raquetball courts, where we elected our class mascot: the Solid Gold Dancers, that the Class of 1997 would be one that would always shine. As I look back over these past four years, it seems to me that my feeling was correct. Solid Gold Dancers have left their mark, not only as a class, but as individuals as well. With every major change associated with Agnes Scott in the past four years including 24-7 perietals, a new president, and a new student constitution, I can name the many Solid Gold Dancers that were on the forefront of those changes. I look around at the diversity of clubs and organizations, many of which were inactive our first year, and think about how they have grown and flourished under the leadership of one or more Solid Gold Dancers.

I look back on all the classes that we have seen go before us and I think of a group of students who made that class memorable. It is not one group of students that makes the class of 1997 stand out, but it is each and every one of us, the actions we take, and the beliefs that we hold.

We have come a long way from our orientation weekend in 1993, through good times and bad. Yet we have all "survived" and "stayed alive" together. If we each take with us what we have learned here at ASC into the "outside world," I have no doubt that the Solid Gold Dancers will leave their mark on the world.

Something for everybody...

Agnes Scott College comes out of the shadows when her students and graduates reach out to the world, building the community. Of the 43 organizations found on the pages that follow, each and every one brings Agnes Scott into the light.

Groups like Amnesty International, Best Buddies, Circle K, and Habitat for Humanity explicitly dedicate themselves to service, forcing students out of their books and into the lives of others.

However, just because groups like Collegiate Chorale and Tower Council are not readily identifiable as service organizations, does not mean that they are in the shadows. Any time organizations reach out to include their fellow Scotties, sparks fly.

Not only does ASC step out into the light, but other clubs seek to bring the light of awareness here to our campus. ACASA, LBA, Witkaze, RFZ and other such groups seek to make Agnes Scott more diverse and, hopefully, more accepting.

The light shines brightly here at ASC thanks to the efforts of some very active organizations.

Lighting the way ...

When people think of sports, many picture sweaty muscle-bound men fighting to beat their opponents, but here at Agnes Scott we know that women can get down and dirty just as well as any man. The growing recognition our athletic teams are receiving proves that we are not the only ones who know this to be true. We have escaped the era of women simply being spectators and have entered into a new time where we can participate in sports AND excell in them.

This year, our many talented coaches worked hard to build strong teams and their efforts did not go unnoticed. If this was not their BEST year ever then they certainly improved tremendously! All the players practiced for hours on end and still managed to have the energy to play some incredible games!

Years ago, Agnes Scott did not have the advanced Athletic Department that it has today. Our modern facilities have brought light and solace into the lives of the students' daily hustle and bustle. The Athletic Department has, in a sense, come Out of the Shadows and Into the Light at last!

Top: As one of the basketball team members pulls herself off the ground, we see that b-ball is definitely a contact sport.

Running in the sun!

Cross Country

"This fall season saw great potential turn into great runners. . . . Our season itself was one of the best ever after all was said and done. The first meet of the season found us 7th out of 8 teams, but at that same course for our next meet we had improved to place 5th out of 13 teams. The highlight of the season was the taking of FIRST PLACE in the All Metro Meet in Atlanta. The team was proud to bring home Agnes Scott's first varsity athletics trophy! We ended the regular season with the Southeastern Classic in Nashville, TN, placing 15th out of 23 schools."

— Coach Tracy St. John

Above left: Look at that stamina! Running all that way must be tiring, but Jacalyn Ellis trudges along and helps to win the trophy.

Above right: Robin Otte and Draughn Whitehead take advantage of the conveniently parked Agnes Scott van to stretch before a meet. Synchronized stretching? A new sport? Not this time ladies.

Right: Jennifer Jacob runs her best for the cross-country team and for herself. She sure won't let the team down.

Susan Hiers makes a beautiful stride as she ponders the success of winning and the thrill of finishing the race.

Left: Carla Maley needs just the right shoes for her upcoming run. Comfortable and light, yeah those will work! Getting ready for a meet is a little nerve-racking, but Carla seems to be handling it quite well.

Stretching is an important part of running with the Cross Country team. Laura Vanderbloemen knows this all too well and seems to be enjoying the time allotted for stretching before the meet.

Robin Otte picks up the pace as she searches for the finish line that always seems to be too far away. The runners anticipate the end of the race so that they can finally take a breather.

The team anxiously awaits the start of the race. Some of the teammates seem a little more enthusiastic than others. Robin sure is rearing to go!

First Place at All Metro Meet!

Star Minke continues the tradition of giving roses to the graduating seniors on Fan Appreciation night. This year the two lucky recipients were Becky Rafier and Jill Wilmarth. The team will certainly miss you both. Good luck.

When Alecsia Tolliver is set up for a good spike she most assuredly takes full advantage of it. Here, she defies the laws of gravity when she goes up for one of her famous spikes!

Ashleigh Matthews' teammates look on as she gracefully hurls the ball into the other court.

Communication is an important part of any team. The team gets together for a pow-pow to get ready for another tough match. Advice from the coach is given and the players get to take a break. Tournaments are a rough part of the game, but these players stick it out and pull it off.

Jemie Hatfield waits patiently for just the right moment to send the ball to a teammate in order to score yet another point for the team.

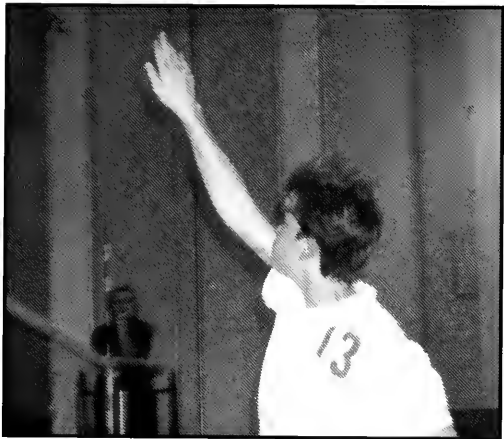

Kimberly Davis sets the ball for Aleesia Tolliver for a perfectly aimed spike over the net. Does it get any better than this?

VOLLEYBALL Gets Fired Up!!

What a Season!

This season the volleyball team may not have won all their games, but they won their last tournament of the entire season and had a great time this past year. The volleyball players went out with a bang! The team also flew to Boston for a tournament and got to stay there all weekend long. New to Agnes Scott and new to the team were Kim Davis, Ashleigh Matthews and Becky Smith. Many new friends were made and everyone reached out to the new players as well as welcomed back the old ones. This past season was, by all means, A SEASON THEY WILL NOT SOON FORGET!

Jill Wilmarth runs forward just in time to send the ball over the net and out of the opposing team's reach.

Without a good serve, the game cannot be won. Che'ferre Suggs certainly knows how to serve a volleyball. Just look at that form and concentration!!

SOCCER

A Kick in the Grass ...

"Run, Kick, Score," is what the fans yelled as Agnes Scott's Soccer team intrigued them on the field. Playing games fairly and to the best of their ability, these women gave themselves and the women of Agnes Scott a season to be proud of.

These women practiced long and hard to be a stronger more successful team. By showing up to every gym workout, and every drill practice these women not only improved their talents but also showed their dedication to the game of soccer.

Combining the abilities of all the women made a team that played together through thick and thin.

Even though the soccer team did not win every game, they brought a lot of heart and pride to the game of soccer.

Mona Cousino runs and plays her hardest for the benefit of her and her Agnes Scott teammates.

The goalie, Quail Duryea, shows off her amazing talent for kicking the soccer ball long and hard.

“Through teamwork and dedication, the soccer team always strived to be at their best.”

The team warms up at halftime, getting ready to finish what they started in the first half.

The basketball team has many fans. Included in the stands is the volleyball team who enjoys coming to the games to help cheer on another one of Agnes Scott's fearless teams.

Chelsy Parks trips up her opponent while rushing with the ball towards the basket.

Lori Anderson had better watch out for that "phantom ball" headed her way.

After stealing the ball from the opposing team, Sandy Miller bolts down the court to take advantage of her open shot of the basket!

BASKETBALL

This year's basketball team had a great year. Each player improved whether it was from last year, the beginning of the season, or both. There was increased fan attendance at the games due to DJs, prize giveaways, macarena performances, and the sheer excitement of the games. One of the team's biggest wins was the defeat of Warren Wilson College 46-20!

Next year's team will undoubtedly miss graduating seniors Megan Graham, Chelsy Parks, and Elanor Peterson, but they hope to continue growing in their on-court performance despite the absence of their mentors.

Jessica McKenzie quickly shoots for a 3-pointer as the other team closes in.

The team is very attentive as Paige Cardel tells them the strategy that they need to win the game!

TENNIS

This year's tennis team played a great season! A few of their defeats included Wesleyan, Oglethorpe, Brewton-Parker, St. Mary's, University of Minnesota, and University of Wisconsin-Whitewater.

The tennis players were in great shape and just kept getting better and better. Team Captains this year were Mona Cousino and Akeley David. These ladies did an excellent job in keeping their fellow teammates headed toward success. Their victories seemed unstoppable! Tracy St. John and Strahan Hodgson pushed the players to do their best and it certainly paid off.

Team members Mona Cousino, Akeley David, Heather Fong and Marley Maupin will be graduating this year, but fans can count on the remaining players for continued success. The Tennis team did a fantastic job this year and made the ASC community proud.

Mona Cousino uses all her power to score on her opponent.

Brooke Renfroe watches as her artfully mastered hit flies to the other side of the court.

Heather Fong exhibits her strength and agility through playing hard in games and in practice.

Amy Starr moves back and forth, anxiously awaiting for her chance to win another game.

Agnes Scott and other Cross Country teams take off, as the race begins.

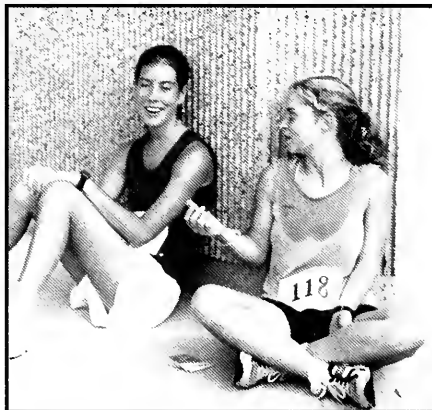

Katherine Nalley dribbles the ball across the court, all the while watching and waiting for an opening to go for the basket.

The coaches of the soccer team motivate the players with a "pep talk."

Robin Olte and Draughn Whitehead converse with one another about the exhausting race they just ran.

The first hit of a set is most important and Becky Smith gets ready to slam the ball and send it back to the other team. Will they be able to handle her awesome volley?

Katherine Nalley deters her opponents efforts to steal the ball by passing it quickly to one of her ready teammates.

Coach Tracy St. John and the Cross Country team enjoy breakfast before they go out to run their race for the day.

Megan Graham, #23, looks towards the game in progress as she waits for her chance to make a play.

Aynsley Dickinson keeps her opponent from getting the ball, as she runs up and down the field.

Stretching looks painful when the Cross Country team demonstrates. Not only do they have to be great runners, but they have to be contortionists too!

“First teach a person to develop to the point of his limitations and then – pfft! – break the limitation.”

– Viola Spolin

With the flood of new students for the 1996-97 school year came a similar increase in the faculty at Agnes Scott. New faces can be seen in a variety of departments including French, Mathematics, and Biology. Most joined the community with great enthusiasm having been spotted at everything from soccer games to Junior Production.

In the 1997 edition of Princeton Review's “The Best 310 Colleges,” Agnes Scott professors were ranked fourth for “mak[ing] themselves accessible” and seventh for “bring[ing] the material to life.” Political Science teacher Cathy Scott is known for grasping students’ attention with her quick wit and celebrity imitations. Dr. Myrtle Lewin of the Mathematics department maintains her pupils’ interest with exaggerated gestures and lack of inhibitions, never allowing the confines of the chalkboard to set mental boundaries. # Thomas Wagner Hogan

Professor of Psychology

Dr. Tom Hogan joined the Psychology Department at Agnes Scott College in 1962. During his lengthy tenure at the College, Dr. Hogan was notable for obtaining ASC's first federal grant, establishing the college's first psychology lab in the late 1960s, bringing the first computers to campus, obtaining the first IBM grant for the college, and for offering the first information science course in the Agnes Scott curriculum. Hogan also authored the manual entitled, "Thinking and Computing."

As Chair of the Department of Psychology, Dr. Hogan's death in December 1996 left a marked void in the Agnes Scott community.

Dr. Hogan is survived by his wife, Dr. Ingrid Weishofer, Professor of German at Agnes Scott, and children, Erik and Brigitte Hogan '99. He will be remembered fondly by the multitude of present and former Agnes Scott students who passed through his Psychology courses.

Ever present in our lives

The administration and staff are undoubtedly the backbone of Agnes Scott College. As perspectives, students are recruited and aided by staff members in the offices of Admissions, Financial Aid, and the Registrar. Members of the administration such as the Dean of Students and the Dean of the College also play an important role in encouraging perspectives to attend the college. Upon moving to campus, other staff members like those in the Post Office, Bookstore, Library, and Dining Hall, help new students adjust to life at ASC. Staff members feed and clean up after the students. They keep the campus pretty and safe. Between Orientation and Graduation many people in the administration and staff become the students' helpers, colleagues, and friends. Many of them are on a first-name basis with the students, especially by the time they are seniors. Most seniors are all too familiar with most of the offices on campus, especially those of Career Planning, the Registrar, Financial Aid and Accounting. When seniors graduate, administration and staff members from offices such as Alumnae Affairs, the President, Development, and Publications remain present in their lives.

Check out the flip side of flippin' burgers

At McDonald's, we're flippin' the script on what you think about flippin' burgers. McDonald's crew members have lots of opportunities for career advancement and growth. More than 60% of McDonald's restaurant managers and more than a third of McDonald's restaurant owners began as crew members. And McDonald's devotes millions of dollars to ongoing employee training. But the most important thing is, this training equips crew members with a variety of job skills that can be used at McDonald's, or anywhere else.

Sarah Says ...

This year has, undoubtedly, been the toughest year of my life. Time was my enemy as I attempted to complete my coursework to graduate, plan my future, and get this book out before everyone left for the summer.

The skeleton staff that helped finish this book deserve much appreciation from me and everyone. I especially want to thank the section editors for their patience, dedication, and loyalty. Y'all are the greatest!!

Pat, I cannot thank you enough for being patient and understanding with Melissa and me these past few years. I consider you a colleague, mentor, and friend. It has truly been a pleasure working with you. I'll miss it.

Melissa ... thank you for being such a wonderful friend and co-editor. I remember the first day I met you. Since then, you have taught me so much, especially about myself. Somehow you have this way of knowing so much more about me than I do. You have listened to me when it seemed that no one else would. You have been sooo patient with me and the moods I get into when I get stressed. We have intellectually and emotionally grown alongside one another these past four years, and I'm proud to say that, together, we have brought this yearbook a long way.

To everyone else, I hope that you enjoy this year's book. Countless hours of time and stress have been put into it by myself and the staff. Melissa and I were afraid that we wouldn't be able to top last year's book, but I think we've done it ... Thank God!!

Abrazos,

Sarah Beyer

Melissa Says ...

As I sit here writing my final editor's page, I am at a loss for words. This is the last time I will be a student on this campus, see many of the people that have made an impact on my life. This year's staff was truly amazing. I enjoyed working with each and everyone of you. Amber, Niki, Sharon, Julia, Andrea, Ashlea and Debbie – your dedication and talent kept the yearbook going. Without you, it would not have turned out as well as it did! You guys are the greatest!

Pat – again you have truly been our backbone. I can not express my gratitude enough. I have learned much from you, and your sense of humor kept me from pulling my hair out. I will miss working with you.

Amanda – Needless to say, I have looked at you as being the “core” of the staff, especially the last two years. I have enjoyed getting to know you, and I wish you the best of luck in the future. I know you will go far. Every time there is a storm, I will think of you.

Sarah – We have definitely had our ups and downs over the years. You were the first person I really got to know here, and you will be the last one that I will ever forget. I don't want to say “good-bye” because that seems so permanent. Even if we lose touch over the course of time, when I think of my time spent here, I will think of you. I know that the future holds great things for you. You have a special talent that I have been able to witness and see grow over the years. That talent is your passion and willingness to give over so much of yourself when you believe in something. All I can say is “thank you”!

So long, Agnes Scott College. I have certainly enjoyed the ride ....

This academic year is over, the yearbook is done, and the staff is exhausted. We hope that our hard work will be enjoyed by each and every person who reads this book.

As the class of 1997 leaves Agnes Scott, we want to say one last thing...CHEERS!!
